FORM MEETS FUNCTION

Award-winning practice Allford Hall Monaghan Morris are renowned for designing 'different buildings for very different people to use in very different ways'.

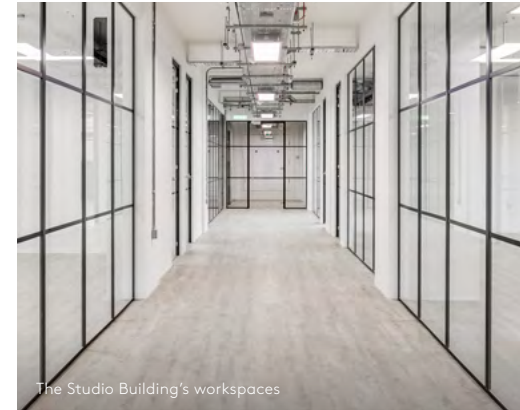

This approach to architecture is present throughout Nottingham Dale creating a sense of place through a set of buildings and spaces that are both beautiful and functional.

CREATIVE CONNECTIONS

An unrivalled contemporary art collection by world famous artists adorns the campus, truly setting it apart from any other working environment in London. Striking pieces feature throughout and connect the buildings which surround newly curated outdoor sculptures at the campus's centre, Breaker's Place.

The Frestonian Gallery offers further inspiration with diverse monthly exhibitions and regular events.

REBELLIOUS ROOTS

Originally a base for craftsmanship with the Bentley Coachworks at 3 Olaf Street, the 1970s saw Notting Dale transformed by around 120 residents to create an independent state known as The Republic of Frestonia. A bohemian community of families and industrious artisans, Frestonia had its own passport, postage stamps and newspaper.

The red brick People's Hall was the central meeting point for the community's arts, and saw the rehearsal and recording of The Clash's seminal album Combat Rock in the 1980s. Keeping this spirit alive, it now houses the Frestonian Gallery and ten studios with eclectic creative occupiers.

THE CENTRE OF ATTENTION

Bright yellow stripes and concrete grids mark out this award-winning building, and inside the seven-storey high atrium links each floor with an abundance of natural light and open space. Its scale and style lends itself to housing a number of amazing pieces of art from David Hockney to Jeff Koons, and Carsten Holler to Glenn Ligon.
